

Leeches

Before I Turn

A masquerade for my apperception
A binding vigor for my lust
I've learned from the life I took, there's a few sights sadder than a ruined book

Everything around you slowly burns

You lead a life, no purpose and no family
The time will come, when vileness is all you see

Where is my sanity? Shrouded by anxiety?
Everything around me is a blur, since I saw you with her
With her alluring stare, something I could never bare Soon I will be laughing when you know, I am the one

The leeches will show no mercy, draining blood from every orifice, every vein
They will drag you down into the depths

Fear me now for I am him
Cut me deep to watch me bleed external secretions
A deeper wound a darker red than crimson
You've always found a way to get inside of me
Cut me open to see my true intentions
Wretched whore put the widow on the phone
And see tonight, I'll be inside your fucking home