

Under The Vermillion Sun

Before I Turn

Why won't you hold my hand through oblivion?
You said you'd be there anyway if Heaven exists
But when we leave this world that we're living in
Are we departing from life or are we one with vermillion?

If your own soul is at peace
Follow me endlessly
Just like a fraud, unwinding anxiety
I'm searching all the lies
But search enough demise
Sudden she'll see the world through your eyes
As I fall into a solemn abyss
With cold hard proof that the devil exists
And he takes me, he kills me
Forever feel his aim

Watch as these shall be undone
Crying as they run
Under vermillion sun I will run

I just want to (Kill)
Have a life where I can (Kill me)
Protect my end (Kill)
Please God, please God don't (Kill me)

Forever fear the end
If your own soul is at peace
Can we just fall asleep
Remember death to be one with everything

We are all in the dark and we're falling apart
Is the story of a million years of death
As I fall into the solemn abyss
We all have proof that the devil exists

Watch as these shall be undone
Crying as they run
Under vermillion sun I will run
Watch as these shall be undone
Crying as they run
Under vermillion sun I will run

And you will never fear death again

Hold my hand to vermillion
We've been with ether before as we're dead longer than we're alive
I'm searching all the lies
But search enough demise
Trying to breathe while we all forever fear the end