

The sky falls down at your command
The city will roar with the sound of terror
And our world will crumble
At the sound of your voice
So take my words, it's not my choice

There's no looking back
Live for right now
I'm so far away, so far away
With no difference between right or wrong
I'm so far away, so far from you

So far from you
So far from you

There's no looking back
Live for right now
I'm so far away, so far away
With no difference between right or wrong
I'm so far away, so far from you

So far from you
So far from you