

Strangers

Before You Exit

Started off
A thousand miles of interstate
The sun was setting right in my hands

Staying up
I swore that I would be okay
With compromises made in my head

But I lost my grip
So I let her slip

We had a little love once
But now it's in danger
We got a little lost babe
But that's human nature
Now it's too late to save us
Oh cause now she's a stranger

Fake a smile
So no one else could recognize
The broken heart that's under my skin

Say goodbye
Tried to swim but came to find
No water when I went diving in

And I lost my grip
So I let her slip

We had a little love once
But now it's in danger
We got a little lost babe
But that's human nature
Now it's too late to save us

Now we're back to where we started, oh woah
Now we're back to where we started
Right back to strangers

We had a little love once
But now it's in danger
We got a little lost babe
But that's human nature
Now it's too late to save us
Oh cause now she's a stranger

She's long gone, she's long gone
Now we're back to where we started, strangers
