Sometimes Forever Means Never

Behind Crimson Eyes

You never, would take no for an answer Your smile like cancer I'm always, there for you but You only ever take what's mine

Was there something I said
That could make you feel this way
And make me feel like my world's not turning
Is there something I should do
Should I stay the fuck away from you
You're breaking away

Leave today, take with you

Every memory along with every

Mistake I, made for you

It's all over, our lives have torn in two

Why do you care?
I don't understand
I can't justify all those lies
I can't go on living this way
It's not a game... and I'm not ok.