

Demon

Being As An Ocean

I don't ever give a fuck about opinion
On my own, blowing fire, I'm a demon
I've been feeling so much better since I left you
Took walking miles through the flames, now I'm fireproof
I don't really care what you think about it
I'll just call it like it is
I remember you saying I was going to lose
But I'm going to win

I'm still here, without you
I'm still here, don't need you

Body shaking from the rhythm of my heartbeat
I can feel the pressure building up inside me
Shade and criticism hidden in your questions
Always assuming that my life would be a dead end
If you really want to know the one you doubted
Why don't you come and see?
Find the thing you love and let it kill you
It'll set you free

I'm still here, without you
I'm still here, don't need you

My pride might take a blow, but I'm still here
You may not like my tone, but I'm still here
I walk a dangerous road, but I'm still here
Yeah, I've felt alone, but I'm still here

My pride might take a blow, but I'm still here
You may not like my tone, but I'm still here
I walk a dangerous road, but I'm still here
Yeah, I've felt alone, but I'm still here

I'm still here, without you
I'm still here, don't need you
I'm still here, without you
I'm still here, don't need you