

I'll Be There

BEKA

You don't always feel like being centre of attention
And there's a side of you that sometimes gets frightened
I see the side of that never feels quite enough
You know you deserve to be loved

I will be there when you've faded
When the world has left you naked
You know that I'll be there (I'll be there)
I will be there when you falter
When you're barely treading water
You ought to know, that I'll be there

Don't you ever feel that you have to be better
Tell me every little thing you keep locked in your centre
Show me the side of you that knows that you're good enough
You know you deserve to be loved

I will be there when you've faded
When the world has left you naked
You know that I'll be there (I'll be there)
I will be there when you falter
When you're barely treading water
You ought to know, that I'll be there

When you feel you're alone
When you think it's gone wrong
When you feel you're a mess
And it's tight in your chest
When you feel you can't see
When fall onto me
I'll be there
I'll be there

I will be there when you've faded
When the world has left you naked
You know that I'll be there (I'll be there)
I will be there when you falter
When you're barely treading water
You ought to know, that I'll be there
