

The Forgotten

Bella Morte

I don't know why things seem so faint
I speak aloud but no one can hear me
For just one word I'd do anything
Because this silence has become much more
Than I can take

[R:]

I want to see into your eyes
I want to feel the blood that flows
I want to know again the life I left behind
I want to hear you speak my name
I want to feel you at my side
I want to follow you to where I was before

I can't go on much longer like this
The pain of the forgotten can not be healed
As another day goes by
In my silent prison cell
Another year is lost
As I pray to end this hell

[R]

Here I walk forever more, forever dying

I want to see life through your eyes
I want to sleep and never wake
When will the walls fall down into the earth? (2x)