

Always Something

Bellah

If it ain't the bills
It's the niggas in my DM's
When I'm out in public
Quick to dodge 'em if I see em
If it ain't the friends I lost along the way
It's friendships I'm trying to maintain
If it ain't my aunties
Telling me that at my age they had a family
Saying when am I gone marry
What if I ain't ready yet?
Ain't gon' do it for the hell of it

From the moment I wake up
It's always something
Always something
It's always something
Always something

If it ain't me thinking that I gotta up my drive
What am I doing?
Mom still got that nine to five
Parking tickets that's the only time I'm fined
Got a lot on my mind
But not enough time
If it ain't the socials making me conscious
About my body
Before I post a picture gotta ask somebody
If it wasn't for my health
I would've got that BBL
And wouldn't tell nobody

It's always something (It's always something, something)
Always something (Oh, oh, oh-oh)
It's always something (Something, something)
Always something (Always something)

Maybe I should work on my forgiveness
Probably be much closer to my blessings if I did this Gotta undo what I never did
Needed you more when I was a kid, oh
You ain't ever been a father
Now I'm something you'd be proud of
Wanna get married just to change my name
And maybe I won't feel this pain
Till then it's always something

(You are now at the start of your journey)
Its always something, something
Always
Something
