

No, you can't pin this on me
I don't think that's gonna help
Knew that this day was coming
Can't blame no one but yourself

I made it easy
Easy to walk away, far away, honestly
Way too damn easy
I didn't plan this, you couldn't
Resist fucking falling in love

Promised you wouldn't catch feelings
We had a deal and you reneged
I should've listened to my premonition
You knew what this was all along

Relationships are a bit
They're a bit funny aren't they?
You want the truth?
You want to rescue, you've got so much to give, you've got so much
You've got so much compassion, you're out there
You're full of love
You want to save the world
You want to rescue, you know? And that's probably coming from a place
When you see those people, you recognize yourself
And at times where you felt powerless
At times when you felt helpless 'cause you wished somebody did that for you
Wish somebody did that for you
I like it