I dreamt I had to go to mars.

I'm always kidding on about going to mars for the day But faced with the reality of it, in a dream, I was terrified.

And it wasn't going to be like a moon trip

There was three of us going, but we couldn't all go on the same ship

We had to go one at a time with a day between us.

I had to go first, and it was the thought of passing through al l that black space

All the darkness with nothing in it, and then being the first o ne to land there, all alone

I knew it was supposed to be all dark around, with just a red s urface

But what if I got there and it was light, all civilized and populated and stuff?

So I made a plan.

The other astronauts were going to be my dad and my sister And my dad would come first after me

So I decided when I landed I would just stay in my seat until h e got there

And then we could get out together and have a look around And see what sort of things were there.

And when I woke up and I was lying in the darkness, I thought I had landed.

And I just lay still for a while, waiting for my dad to get the re too.
