

I'll tear myself apart but I guess
That's the only way I know how to deal with this stress
Coming fast looking over my shoulder
It feels like I'm living with these problems over and over
I digress 'cause I'm not focusing
On what's best for myself as far as I can see
The broken part of me that I keep buried deep
Only heals when I wear it open on my sleeve

No bark, all bite
I won't just let life pass me by
Too many times
That I just threw myself aside
To finally find
Another wall I need to climb
I'm just over this
I'm just over calling quits

I told myself
That I just can't go and rely
On damaged goods
To fill the holes up deep inside
I'll never find
The answers looking from behind
These broken eyes
They never looked quite satisfied

So here we go again
Everything I put together fell apart within
But it's hard when I'm not positive
Where to put the pieces found that aren't worth salvaging
'Cause it's wrong that I keep focusing
On everything except the problem put in front of me
I keep ignoring things instead of finding peace
In hopes that everything eventually will fall in place

No bark, all bite
I won't just let life pass me by
Too many times
That I just threw myself aside
To finally find
Another wall I need to climb
I'm just over this
I'm just over calling quits

I told myself
That I just can't go and rely
On damaged goods
To fill the holes up deep inside
I'll never find
The answers looking from behind
These broken eyes
They never looked quite satisfied

I won't be satisfied

I told myself

That I just can't go and rely
On damaged goods
To fill the holes up deep inside
I'll never find
The answers looking from behind
These broken eyes
They never looked quite satisfied...