

Carry On

Belmont

Fuel the fire you can't put out inside
Throwing gasoline while you just run and hide
As you're molding me into
A tool that you can't use
Don't tell me that you aren't satisfied

Are the words you spoke, I couldn't comprehend
Waste of time
When the lines I choose to read between are black and white
You never put that behind you

Carry on with it then
Go along with your plan
Let me go, let me fend
Let me fend, let me fend
For myself in the end
Keep the peace if you can
Lost before it began
It began, it began

I understand you
But you never tried to understand nobody else
Won't play myself
'Cause you draw the line and cross it every single time
Cross the line, every time
Paralyzed
From the fear of moving on from what I sacrificed
You never asked for forgiveness

Carry on with it then
Go along with your plan
Let me go, let me fend
Let me fend, let me fend
For myself in the end
Keep the peace if you can
Lost before it began
It began, it began

I still think about you
But I won't bite my tongue
This time gonna speak my mind
I'm not gonna let you shut me-
Shut me down!
Go save yourself
You already left me out to dry
Under cloudy skies
I still think about you
But I won't bite my tongue
This time gonna speak my mind
I'm not gonna fold

So carry on with it then
Go along with your plan
Let me go, let me fend
Let me fend, let me fend

Keep the peace if you can
Lost before it began
It began, it began
