

Overstepping

Belmont

Hundreds of things, I've never said
Clear the air let me talk instead
Quit twisting the strings that you stitched in my back
Take off your shoes while you roam in my head
Selfish enough to leave a mess instead
You left a mess in my head

You're wasting, your time here
My mind's made, don't intrude on my space
I'm pulling all my teeth
To try and feel something

Pace the floor again
Thinking back to when we began
I'm just not ready
I'm just not ready to go
With nothing left to show

Break the knot we tied strong
All the time we spent wrong
Always speaking with tongue in cheek
My interest in you is bleak

You're wasting, your time here
My mind's made, don't intrude on my space
I'm pulling all my teeth
To try and feel something

You're wasting, your time here
My mind's made, don't intrude on my space

You're wasting, your time here
My mind's made, don't intrude on my space

What?
