

SSX Trickmont

Belmont

Get out get out I want you out of my head
But you won't stay out stay out you're running back here instead
Been living in doubt, no doubt I'm running circles again
Cuz I've been thinking' bout all the ways I always loved to play pretend

I'll fade away
Cuz I can't keep myself in place
I've got nobody else to blame besides myself
And I ran away

Holding my breath
It's getting harder just to breathe
I should've confessed
Now I'm just trying to believe
I put out my best foot
But I'm tripping over
Things I can't change
I guess I'm only wasting my time

I don't think that you understand
That I don't want to see your face until I'm six feet in
I don't think that you understand
There's a reason that I bounced out in the very end

I don't think you'd care
But I can't blame you that just isn't fair
I dug a hole and got stuck
I'm running fresh out of luck
But that's the price for living unprepared

Lie with me
Just lie to me
So I can feel the pain
I push around and let it breathe

Lie with me
Just lie to me
So I can feel the pain
I push around and let it breathe

Holding my breath
It's getting harder just to breathe
I should've confessed
Now I'm just trying to believe
I put out my best foot
But I'm tripping over
Things I can't change
I guess I'm only wasting my time

I don't think that you understand
That I don't want to see your face until I'm six feet in
I don't think that you understand
There's a reason that I bounced out in the very end

Get out get out I want you out of my head
But you won't stay out stay out you're running back here instead

I can't believe how long I dragged this out
How long I dragged this out

Holding my breath
It's getting harder just to breathe
I should've confessed
Now I'm just trying to believe
I put out my best foot
But I'm tripping over
Things I can't change
I guess I'm only wasting my time

I don't think that you understand
That I don't want to see your face until I'm six feet in
I don't think that you understand
There's a reason that I bounced out in the very end

I don't think that you understand
That I don't want to see your face until I'm six feet in
I don't think that you understand
There's a reason that I bounced out in the very end