

Collide

Ben Abraham

It wasn't meant to be like this
I thought the road would lead us to the end
If I could only rewrite this
But I messed it up and maybe lost a friend

And they say
Today's another day
Well okay
Well okay

But how many times will I fall
Before I start to wonder if I'll get to you at all
I'll close my eyes and like a satellite
I'll throw myself at gravity and hope that we collide
That we collide

All the loving and hurting
And a wake of walls for someone else to scale
Well you're a lesson I'm learning
And I'm losing count of all the times I've failed

But they say
Don't live in yesterday
Well okay
Well okay

But how many times will I fall
Before I start to wonder if I'll get to you at all
I'll close my eyes and like a satellite
I'll throw myself at gravity and hope that we collide
That we collide

And they say
Today's another day
Yes they say
Today's another day
And they say
Today's another day
Well okay

I will live my life and at the speed of light
I'm heading for the day
With the explosions in the sky
When we collide
When we collide
When we collide
