Smoke

Leaf by leaf and page by page Throw this book away All the sadness, all the rage Throw this book away

Rip out the binding and tear the glue And all of the grief we never even knew We had it all along Now it's smoke

The things we've written in it Never really happened All the things we've written in it Never really happened

And all of the people come and gone Never really lived All the people come have gone No one to forgive Smoke

We will not write a new one There will not be a new one Another one, another one

Here's an evening dark with shame (Throw it on the fire) Here's the time I took the blame (Throw it on the fire)

Here is the time when we didn't speak It seems, for years and years And here's a secret No one will ever know The reasons for the tears They are smoke Smoke Smoke

We will not write a new one There will not be a new one Another one, another one

Where do all the secrets live? They travel in the air You can smell them when they burn They travel

Those who say the past is not dead Can stop and smell the smoke You keep saying the past is not dead Well, stop and smell the smoke (you keep saying)

You keep on saying the past is not even past (you keep saying) And you keep saying (you keep saying) We are smoke Smoke Smoke
