

Falling Down

Ben Haenow

I've been tryna keep it together
Hoping everything would get better
Doing everything is coming apart right now, now, now, oh, no
And I know I always said I could save ya
And you always told me I was a failure
If that's just me then I can't see

'Cause who the hell am I anyway
I've forgotten everything but her name
And now the weather's starting to change
And I just wanna run and hide away, yeah
'Cause I'm too weak to keep together
I guess the sun can't shine all the time

When everything is falling down around me like rain
You're my shelter
When I can't find the strength to fight from washing away
In the flood

I try picking up the pieces
But my hands are bleeding, I'm in need of help, oh yeah, yeah
And I know I always said I could save ya
But the pressure's got me starting to waver
And I can't believe it's broken me

But who the hell am I anyway
I've forgotten everything but her name
And now the weather's starting to change
And I just wanna run and hide away
'Cause I'm too weak to keep together
I guess the sun can't shine all the time

When everything is falling down around me like rain
You're my shelter
When I can't find the strength to fight from washing away
In the flood

When I can't hold on, I'm losing it all again
You keep me strong, you're there when I need a friend, oh yeah

When everything is falling down around me like rain
You're my shelter
When I can't find the strength to fight from washing away
In the flood

When everything is falling down around me like rain
You're my shelter
When I can't find the strength to fight from washing away
In the flood

When I can't hold on, I'm losing it all again
You keep me strong, you're there when I need a friend, oh yeah

When everything is falling down around me like rain
You're my shelter
When I can't find the strength to fight from washing away
In the flood
