

There's Your Man

Ben Howard

There's your man
He's far from brilliant
See him walk out the door, a lowered head and great resilience
See how he always wants to be around you
See how he always wants to be around you
Seem he always wants to be around

So that's how we live, in lavender and no affection
It's all talk and lavender and no affection
It's all talk (it's all talk)
It's all talk (it's all talk)
(No affection)

There's your man staggering on
See him walk out the door, a lowered head, time ticking on
See how he always wants to be around you
See how he always wants to be around you
See how he always wants to be around

Can't stand the way they talk of one another
Can't stand the way they talk about one another
Can't stand the way they talk

So that's how we live, in lavender and no affection
It's all talk and lavender and no affection
It's our dream, lavender and no affection
It's our dream, lavender and no affection
That's our dream
(No affection)

There's your man, there's your man
There's your man, darling, there's your man
There's your man, there's your man
