Save Yourself

Ben Kweller

Sunrise up
Big let down
You gave up
Said, "It's too late now"
I'm right here
And it's not too late
To just chill out
To sit and wait

Don't let it beat you up
When the rose you have
Is a faded color red
It'll eat you up
Just to stand in it
With that storm up in your head

I'm right here at the water
Reaching out through my bones
But you don't come across
You don't come across
You just save yourself

You just save yourself
From the unknown loss
You just save yourself

From the unknown shadow piece
That stare at you
In their found out way
Grade school teachers do
There's no point
When you blink your eye
To fear the opening
On the other side

Don't let it beat you up
When the rose you have
Is a faded color red
It'll eat you up
Just to stand in it
With that storm up in your head

I'm right here at the water
Reaching out through my bones
But you don't come across
You don't come across
You just save yourself

You just save yourself
From the unknown loss
Yeah, you just save yourself
From the unknown loss

Loss, loss, unknown loss
Loss, loss, yeah