

Pointless Beauty

Ben Lee

Everything is saying eat me drink me everywhere I look
Tryin' to reel in the biggest catch but I barely have a hook
What's the point of speculation I want to feel it in my hands
That thing that livid ancient spark in primordial man, yeah

Once upon a time I was a reptile and somewhere I still am
I tend to act so civilized just because I can
But what about the secret that you whispered to me when you were high
When you were young the doors were open but the moment passed you by

All I want is your pointless beauty
Everybody is trying to explain
All I want is your pointless beauty
I can't remember my name
All I want is your pointless beauty
So pretty with you I might explode
All I want is your pointless beauty
Help me forget what I've known

Sometimes I think I might collapse under the weight of my own wise
But then I take a nap lying next to you and suddenly everything is fine
I guess it's kind of like a dress rehearsal I'm waiting for the time
There's a void that I'm resisting 'cause I'm afraid to lose my mind (yeah)
I don't want to lose my mind

All I want is your conversation
Between the two of our insides
All I want is your consummation
'Cause I've got nothing to hide
All I want is your meadow to me
Where the boxes are so full of sunshine
All I want is your pointless beauty
It's on the tip of my tongue

It's all for nothing, every cell is telling me
It's all for nothing, it's just another memory
It's all for nothing, every cell is telling me
It's all for nothing..

All I want is your pointless beauty
So great that it's too much to take
Where the memories pass right through me
I can't remember my name
And you know that I have always loved you
Even when I barely was there
All I want is your pointless beauty
To show you how much I care
To show you how much I care
