

Something New

Ben Lee

It's kinda weird gettin' ready for bed
The night before your birthday
It's hard to fall asleep
Knowing that you're gonna wake up
A whole year older
No use counting sheep

There's a feeling in my tummy that's like popcorn popping
Tomorrow's almost here there is just no stopping

But something new, something bigger
Oh please, can it come quicker?
Something new, something better
Feels like nothing's changed forever
Something new
Something new
Something new

There's so much stuff that I don't understand
Does time have an ending?
How does milk turn into cheese?
There's so many places that I really wanna go
Where people's clothes are different
And some speak Japanese

There's a feeling I've been getting 'bout big stuff that needs exploring
And it feels like it could start tomorrow morning

Something new, something happy
I'm so ready make it snappy
Something new, could be silly
Just as long as it is really
Something new
Something new
Something new
Something new
Something new
Really looking forward to
Something new
Something new Something...