

king of the world, pt. 1

Ben Platt

So, you're brand new
You just set sail
Your journey's still a fairytale
It's fun and games when you fall down
Your folks will lift you off the ground
And they tell you you're the king of the world
That's just youth on the Titanic
When the days go on forever
And you don't need nothing better than the truth
It ain't heavy handed
Spend your afternoons just running
'Cause you still don't know what's coming
That's just youth
