

Steady Love

Ben Rector

I was staring at a photograph
Must have been fifteen years back
Can't believe we dressed like that Feels like yesterday

Funny how we used to all pretend
We'd never become our parent's friends
But seasons change and summer ends
It just fades away

Yeah you can't stay young forever
You can't keep from growing up
But when your heart gets tired of living on the run
My God you should find you some
Steady love
Steady love
By God you should find you some

It's as old ancient history
People quit being young and keep trying to be
None of that makes sense to me the way it did back then

Cause everybody's chasing endless nights
Open roads and neon light
Yeah you could walk a million miles
But it's footsteps in the sand

Cause you can't stay young forever yeah
You can't keep from growing up
But when your heart gets tired of living on the run
My God you should find you some yeah
Steady love
Steady love
By God you should find you some
Steady love
Steady love
By God you should find you some

Might not always be wild and free
But more and more that's alright with me
Truth is we were made to be in steady love
Steady love
By God you should find you some

Some steady love
Oh oh oh
Steady love
Oh oh oh oh

My God you should find you some
(Steady love)
(Steady love)
(By God you should find you some)
(Steady love)
(Steady love)
(By God you should find you some)
(Steady love)

(Steady love)
(By God you should find you some)
