

We Will Never Be This Young Again

Ben Rector

I spoke to myself last night in a dream
I was about twenty-one
It was the craziest thing
And I went to a party with all of my friends
And it brought tears to my eyes
To see us together again

And I tried to tell them the way that things change
They wouldn't listen to me
They all started walking away
So I sung them a song of the beauty of youth
And I brought the rhythmic back in and I told them the truth

I couldn't tell you where this road will lead
If it winds or how it ends
But this is as alive as we will ever be
Cause we will never be this young again

So

Here's to livin' while we're alive
Don't slow down, don't close your eyes
Just raise your glass and breathe it in
Cause we will never be this young again

(Oh yeah yeah)
(Never be this young again)

I woke up in my room and I shot out of bed
And there was a vision of me at 75 in my head
He smiled and said, "Boy you're still in your youth"
Then he sat down and played me this song
Same as I'm singin' to you

I couldn't tell you where this road will lead
If it winds or how it ends
But this is alive as we will ever be
We will never be this young again

So

Here's to livin' while we're alive
Don't slow down, don't close your eyes
Just raise your glass and breathe it in
Cause we will never be this young again

Ride the night like a roller coaster
Like the nights back in Oklahoma
Just a sip of the sweet cherry cola
To the stars
Supernova
This is young as we'll ever be
So let's be young and free
Come make a memory

Oh yeah

I say everybody gather round
We're goin' out tonight
Gonna paint the town
And if we get too deep
We can reel it in
Because we will never be this young again

We will never be, never be this young again

(Never be, never be, never be this young again)
