

Bound To Facial Plague

Benighted

The exhausting languor of apotemnophilia,
The unbearable expectation of a life-saving amputation
Unholy burden to carry, such a heavy weight
Disgraceful atrocities feeding on the matrix

Coronation of the child of shame
Secretions flow from this legitimate cancer
When wild impassibility reveals murderous impulses
Continuation of the evil

Abhorred extension, adored extension
Behold the persecutor

Its darkness contaminates the structure, it colonizes the needs
In aborted mercy, she tries to saw this dead branch
Looks around are heavy
Constant judgment is a scourge
Born from congenital malformations

Necrotic blackness of the extension
Nourishing destructive fusion

Bound to facial plague

Hidden in the sleeping shadow, he watches every single of her g estures
He studies the discordant flame he desires
He is always here
His inexpressive face consumes her a little more every day
Still demonic commissures hiding emotions
She tries to forget the tingling in this tiny member
Bound To Facial Plague
Processing the inversion of empirical partitioning