

Hey, Angel

Benjamin Francis Leftwich

Hey, angel
I gotta say you saved me from myself
You played with danger
To flick a light and show me out of hell

Hey, angel
I was heavy on your wings and now I see
That you were out like a light
To save yourself and show me how to fly
It's alright

You know me better than I know myself
I'll owe you forever
Now I can see myself

Hey, angel
These broken hands found healing hands to hold

And now, I've got a plan more than an atlas in my hands
You were a stranger in a room
With sanguine eyes and a patient kind of mood
It's all you

You know me better than I know myself
I'll owe you forever
Now I can see myself

Is it any wonder that you're far away
I have got a feeling that we'll meet again
A little bit of thunder, won't break the day
Hey, angel I'm awake
