

End With You

Benjamin Tod

In the wake of all that's coming, it's so good to hold you, dear
Life is slipping by, has it really been 10 years?
I wish I could see me like you do sittin' here
Even in your memory, I'm as clear...

On a blue moon shinin' bright
I swear I could be all I might
If you'll still have this old fool
I'm so damn glad I'll end with you

Well life is not forever, and love ain't yours to loan
I left you so many times, for shame I could've known
It's hard to admit that usually I am wrong
But I'm too old now for getting gone

On a blue moon shinin' bright
I swear I could be all I might
If you'll still have this old fool
I'm so damn glad I'll end with you

And here's to all the good times we never had
And here's to all the hard times, now, they don't seem so bad
You somehow uncovered my villain's leather mask
And wiped away the tears I can't keep back

On a blue moon shinin' bright
I swear I could be all I might
If you'll still have this old fool
I'm so damn glad I'll end with you

In the wake of all that's comin', it's so good to hold you, dear...
