

Hold You Till It Hurts

Beres Hammond

Hallelujah, yes
Hallelujah, baby
All I can say is, glad you're coming, baby
Yeah

When I heard the news today
You'll be coming home soon
Wasted no time gettin' ready for this big comedown, yes
No, I just want to make sure it's true
I'm doing things I never usually do, no
Don't want to be laughed at, no
Or feel like a fool

People see me shopping in places
They say there is that's not you
See them guessing and staring
And really they don't have a clue
No, they don't know I'm try to repair
Damage that's set into way
There better be some truth to this news
'Cause I'm the happiest man today

When I gaze into the ceiling
It's such an off-key feeling
I want to hold you, hold you till it hurts, yes
When I hear sweet love songs
I know where these arms belong
They want to hold you, hold you till it hurts, yes

Whoa, I thought it woulda happened someday
You'd come back my way
Now all I can do is say
Oh, my, oh, yeah, my, my, my
And while I'm waiting here
And the hours are counting down
I'll put a favorite song on replay and
Leave and let it run

When I gaze into the ceiling
It's such an off-key feeling
I want to hold you, hold you till it hurts, yes
When I see you lovers in the park
I hear rub-a-dub breathing in the dark
I want to hold you, hold you till it hurts, yes

Come along, come along, come, baby, soon
I been waiting for you to return
No gossip gon' be taking place
But I'm ready to face, I'ma give it my best, yes

Oh, I thought it woulda happened someday
You come back my way
Now all I can do is say
Oh, my, oh, yeah, my, my, my
And while I'm waiting here
And the hours are counting down
I'll put a favorite song on replay and

Leave and let it run

When I heard the news today
You'll be coming home soon
Wasted no time gettin' ready for this big comedown, yes, yes
And I just want to make sure it's true
'Cause I'm doing things I never usually do, no
Don't want to be laughed at, no
Feel like a fool, yes, yes

Come, a come, a come, a come, baby, yes
Come, a come, a come, baby, no
Come let me hold you, hold you till it hurts, yes
Come along, come, baby
Oh, Harry, come, baby
Please, please let me hold you, hold you till it hurts

Please
Let me hold you, hold you till it hurts
