

I'd Give Anything

Beres Hammond

Never never,
Never never never,
Oh I never...

I've never missed someone so bad,
Never thought much of what we had.
It was just an ordinary day,
But now it's me and my ashtray.
Now there's no fun and there's no thrill,
It just an empty space,
That you alone can fill.
A simple smile for me,
Is the hardest thing to do,
Can't get over not seeing you.

Now I'd give anything,
If I could just see you,
Wish I could turn back the hands of time,
To yesterday.
I'd give anything,
Just to hear your voice,
Those silly little things you'd say.

Now I know loneliness is a drag,
But that's all I got left in my bag.
You took my happiness from me,
And left me with the saddest melody.
The shock has dried up all my tears,
Guess you became a part of me,
Through all these years.
Even the favorite meal I crave,
Ain't got no taste
Like rhythm sure ain't sweet,
Without the bass.

Now I'd give anything,
If I could just see you,
Wish I could turn back the hands of time,
To yesterday.
I'd give anything,
Just to hear your voice,
And those silly little things you'd say.
I've never missed someone so bad,
Never thought much of what we had.
It was just an ordinary day,
But now it's me and my ashtray.
Now there's no fun and there's no thrill,
It just an empty space,
That you alone can fill.
A simple smile for me,
Is the hardest thing to do,
Can't get over not seeing you.

Now I'd give anything,
If I could just see you,
Wish I could turn back the hands of time,
To yesterday.

I'd give anything,
Just to hear your voice...
