

More Time

Beres Hammond

Maybe I could've done better
Maybe we both could
But no time for blaming game
That would do us no good
Time taught me lessons
Took the test and now I passed
If I knew what I know now
This wouldn't have been a task

Seeeing you for the first time in a long time
Would you believe if I tell you, you never left my mind
Honey, things do happen, but some things never change
Cause here we are, you and I again
Oh it's gonna take

More time, more time
For the wounds to mend, yes
I know that you scared and you hurting, but so am I
They say old friends don't take much to start a flame yea
All I can say to you is that it's worth another try

Let by gone, be by gone (let by gone be by gone)
It's already there, it's already there (it's already done)
Can't go on living our lives in the past
Let try again, make sure this time it last
Though it's gonna take

More time, more time
For the wounds to mend, yes
I know that you scared and you hurting, but so am I
They say old friends don't take long to start a flame
All I can say that it's worth another try

I think we're blessed so we're given more time
And we're not, perfect please let me remind
Gonna take

More time, more time
For the wounds to mend, yes
I know that you scared and you hurting, but so am I
They say old friends don't take much to start a flame yea
But all what I can say to you is that it's worth another try

More time, more time
For the wounds to mend
I know that you scared and you hurting, but so am I
They say old friends don't take much to start a flame
What I can say to you is that it's worth just this one more try
Yeah, let's do it again
Let's do it again
I know we can cross the bridge, yes
Do what we gotta to do and let it live
We don't take to long
For the flames to start once again
Oh oh let's try
Yea yea, yea yea, let's try
One more time, start all over again, yes

Let's try
