

Sorry Mi Brethren

Beres Hammond

Sorry mi little brethren, it's raining,
And I can't come out tonight.
I know that the game is playing,
Still I can't escape tonight.

She promised me a world I've never known,
Make myself ready to journey into the unknown.
She promised me ecstasy, said it with sincerity.
Things she said she'll do for me,
Oh so secretly.
So even if I wanted to,
I've got homework to do.
So fellows, don't wait for me,
This is where I must be.

Sorry mi little brethren, it's raining,
And I can't come out tonight.
I know that the game is playing,
Still I can't escape tonight.

Don't even wonder,
About who makes up the rules.
This is not a case of who,
Is the one in control.
She's all about comforting,
And I need the pampering.
So brothers, don't wait for me,
This is where I must be,
Her arms are my playground,
In there I'm safe and sound.
Think I've made the right choice,
Stay home in paradise.

Sorry mi little brethren, it's raining,
And I can't come out tonight.
I know that the game is playing,
Still I can't escape tonight.
