

The Blacksmith

Bert Jansch

Out walking in the country
Met a bold jolly blacksmith
He was shoeing a lively mare
And he was singing a strange air
One for the master
One for the owner
But one for the stable boy
A-doing the best he can