

Winter Eclipse

Beta Radio

On the winter solstice, the moon was eclipsed
In my heart, I'll remain there
Oh, red moon recede in your cocoon
For a moment, I'll remain there
I walked the lake alone, with the surface as a stone
Every road, now frozen
The homes in uniform, the decorations warm
All is silver, all is golden

On Christmas Eve, I'm always reminded of
The feeling that I love, by the love that I receive
Oh Christmas Day, the feeling I've waited for
I'm patient and I'm paying for, but the feeling always goes away

A star led the way, to the terrible display
In the dark, all waited
A sun drew near when the light would appear
In the cold, celebrating
In the morning light I'd seen, through window and screen
Something so terrible, beautifully terrible
Silence and sound, on frozen ground
The only thing terrible, beautiful, terrible

On Christmas Eve, I'm always reminded of
The feeling that I love, by the love that I receive
Oh Christmas Day, the feeling I've waited for
I'm patient and I'm paying for, but the feeling always goes away

Tell me what did you hear
Tell me what did you hear
Tell me what did you hear
Tell me what did you hear
Tell me what did you hear (Ring your bell, Silver Bells)
Tell me what did you hear
Tell me what did you hear (Ring your bell, Silver Bells)
Tell me what did you hear

Santa Claus come soon!
You know we adore you! (I never knew)
We are waiting for you! (I never knew you)
Under the eclipsed moon! (Like you wanted me to)
I don't know where I am
I can't undo what I've done (I never knew)
Father send me your Son (I never knew you)
Can I go back to where I began (Like you wanted me to)
I don't know where I am
I can't undo what I've done
I know I'm not the right one
Can I go back to where I began?
