

What Will It Take?

Beth Crowley

I'm biting my tongue so hard
I swear I'm tasting blood
I don't really trust my mouth
So I'll just keep it shut

But this is infuriating
There's no way you're that oblivious
To the connection between us

What will it take
To make you see that
What you want is right in
Front of your face?

What will it take
To finally get you to
Look at me a different way?

I'm going crazy
'Cause I'm not very patient
And I'm tired of waiting baby
So what will it take?
What will it take?

I'm such a good actress that I
Deserve an award
But I don't think I can keep this
Ruse up anymore

Pretending I'm so unbothered
When every moment it's a crime
That you don't have your lips on mine

What will it take
To make you see that
What you want is right in
Front of your face?

What will it take
To finally get you to
Look at me a different way?

I'm going crazy
'Cause I'm not very patient
And I'm tired of waiting baby
So what will it take?
What will it take?

All joking aside
Not one day goes by
When I'm not
Fighting the impulse

To make some excuse
To be around you
Don't be obtuse
'Cause it's simple

Don't be obtuse
'Cause it's simple

What will it take
To make you see that
What you want is right in
Front of your face?

What will it take
To finally get you to
Look at me a different way?

I'm going crazy
'Cause I'm not very patient
And I'm tired of waiting baby
So what will it take?
What will it take?
