

Crashing Down

Beth Hart

Hell is on to me
This desert wants a she
Black fire becomes the road

Diving down the dark
Gold inside my heart
Black fire begins to blow

Yeah I'm crashing down
And there's no one for miles around
Crashing down on the road
On the road on the quiet side of the road

I begin to run
Begging for someone
Bring mercy for my soul

Too damn tired to breath
I'm too damn scared to scream
And my will begins to slow

Yeah I'm crashing down
And there's no one for miles around
Crashing down on the road
On the road on the quiet side of the road

I guess that I just don't know better
Or I'd change my ways I'd change everything
But we all can't live forever
So I'll take my fate and swallow hole

I can hear his heels
The scratching of his tail
He's coming for my gold

On his chest it reads
Liars tramps and thieves
My name is big and bold

Crashing down
And there's no one for miles around
Crashing down on the road
On the road on the quiet side of the road

Say yeah
Say yeah
Say yeah
Yeah
