

War in My Mind

Beth Hart

War in my mind
There's a war in my mind
Seek and ye shall find
That it's hollering all the time
There's a war in my mind

Black in my soul
It's all black in my soul
No diamond in the coal
I reap just what I sow
It's all black in my soul

It's ugly when I cry
I'm crying all the time in my mind
Where it builds and it climbs
And this is more than I can handle
Give me something strong to fill the hole
I make love to the war in my soul

Blood on the wall
I threw my blood on the wall
Hiding in the hall
'Cause I know it's all my fault
I threw my blood on the wall

And it's ugly when I try
So I'm trying all the time in my mind
It builds and it climbs
And this is more than I can handle
Shadow box another piece of sky
While I make love to the war in my mind

War in my mind
I got war in my mind
A lot of war in my mind
