

Shine All Your Light

Beth Nielsen Chapman

Here under Heaven's eyes, down under paradise
Sometimes it seems like we're so small
Here on the shores that reach beyond infinity
How could we matter much at all
Would it be enough if each of us could give our love

Like sand on a mountain, rain on a fountain
Shade on a shadow, a breeze in this tornado
Just do what You can, clap with one hand
And shine all Your light in the sun

We live to learn to love, oh mercy from above
Amazing grace like rain comes falling down
We sing our hearts to You, our song of gratitude
The voice of every child, how sweet the sound
We can only trust all our prayers will all add up

Like sand on a mountain, rain on a fountain
Shade on a shadow, a breeze in this tornado
Just do what You can, clap with one hand
Just shine, just shine

Like sand on a mountain, rain on a fountain
Shade on a shadow, a breeze in this tornado
Just do what You can, clap with one hand
And shine all Your light in the sun

Just do what You can, clap with one hand

And shine all Your light in the sun, shine

Shine all Your light in the sun, shine, shine
