

Lie Between The Lines

Better Lovers

So am I where I'm supposed to be?
See you pressed 'bout the way that I've gone
Some would rather see you die than be free
But the killer is me
And the night lives alongside the dawn

Our lie is between the lines
Growing until we believe ourselves
So completely
Starving potential
Erasing your self-esteem

Dead inside your shell
Kept from nature
Withered without your sun
Keeping love unknown

Dead inside your shell
Kept from nature
Withered without your sun
Keeping love unknown

Pull up another old memory
Unconcerned with the cracks in the frame
Hey at least we're looking up when beneath
In your grave there's a thief
And he'll look just like you later on He'll look like you later on Shadow becomes the self
Just when you thought that your plot was potential
You robbed yourself you're underground
He'll look like you when you're gone
Your shadow becomes yourself
Just when you think that you see your potential
There is no sky
You're underground

Our lie is between the lines
Growing until we replace ourselves
So completely
Starving potential
Erasing your self-esteem

I can't believe I'm just like you
I can't believe I'm just like you
I can't believe I'm just like you
I can't believe I'm just like you

And we believe this isn't all we were made for
And we believe this isn't all we were made for
And we believe this isn't all we were made for
Oh I can't believe that this is all we were made for
We're not meant to die with the inside unknown