

Doin' Time

Better Luck Next Time

Well I know the world's turning over again
And I'll be there while everyone is out getting bent over this, and of that; I can't believe that we still can't begin to control what we have

And I know that this is quite the sorriest state
We all feel it, we're coming out 'cause we can relate Turn it up, play it loud, don't end the song
'till we're all involved is what it's all about

So come on and sing it just as loud as you can
And I bet it starts to heal with every chant of the hand Come on and give it everything that you have 'Cause it's yours and it's mine, we're all just here doin' time

Well I know that we'll come together again
And it takes no more than one of us to start up the trend
And I think we're getting closer every step of the way;
I've fallen hard on it today
And I know it seems like we're growing apart
But then again you could think of it as being a start to what we cannot have so turn the lights off, I'm outa' here in time to catch the band

No I'm not giving up
I need you more than you could ever see so come with me my own worst enemy
Believe me when I say I've got a lot to learn and I promise you I'll take back everything that you have heard
;
it all seems so absurd