

Means For Change

Better Luck Next Time

"Means For Change"

I never understood how simple things could fade
I never took the time to turn and walk away

And now, lives are changing just a little too much
Hearts are racing to a place called home

I never promised you a meaningful today
I never held on to the games that you would play
And now, lives are changing just a little too much
Hearts are racing to a place called home

Understanding in a different way
Now we notice we're at a means for change
Set disaster headed our way
Now we notice we're at a means for change

Never trusted, never cared for anything you had to say
Never noticed, never followed every step along
Step along the way
We rode together, chose to never hide the feeling of dismay

Now the weather is cold December, and it's always gonna stay

Lives are changing just a little too much
Hearts are racing to a place
A place called home

Understanding in a different way
Now we notice we're at a means for change
Set disaster headed our way
Now we notice we're at a means for change

Understanding in a different way
Now we notice we're at a means for change
Set disaster headed our way
Now we notice we're at a means for change

(Understanding in a way) We're at a means for change
(Set disaster headed our way) We're at a means for change
(How the simple things can fade) We're at a means for change
(Now we notice that we're at a means for change) We're at a means for change