

Someone Losing

Better Off

[Verse 1]

Take a look at the light and point your finger
At anything at all
I feel your height shrink down to mine
I'm stuck under the vineyard
Leave the cloud in the air and let it linger
To dust we all dissolve
The pain of life reminds us why
We waste our time on growing tired

[Chorus 1]

You said you could sing
But for how long
'Cause you've got a lot of time left now
To find your heart

[Verse 2]

Take a look at your eyes and I melt easy
Thank God I've got it all

I sit and wait for simple change
When all I need is trying
Leave my heart in the care of someone losing
The rope that holds them down
I'll come to terms with all I've learned
For now, I smile at all the frowns

[Chorus 2]

You said you could sing
But for how long
'Cause you've got a lot of time left now
To find your heart
It's gonna take gravel in your knees
And bloodstains on your teeth
You said you could sing
But at what cost
