

Everything Is Temporary

Between You & Me

It's that time again, I'm back with my best friends
On this road we all know too well
Packed all our bags, shoved in the back seat
We've got plenty of time to kill
What's on the list, let's hit up the valley
Get a little drunk and play the show badly
I don't give a fuck, these are the days I'll be telling my kids

I hope to leave a footprint behind
That won't erase with time
At least we can look back on everything
That we've accomplished and still remember

If there's something you wanna be
Then go make it reality
You live every day like a movie scene
Cause when you get cut, you can change your thing

When I'm all washed up and I have no career
When I cannot shake off that ring in my ear
At least we can look back on everything that we've accomplished
And say, man those were the years

Our time is closing in, so make the best of it
The hard days, your pain and all the rest of it
Just put it on the shelf like everybody else
So pick up the pieces and make something more of yourself

If there's something you wanna be
Then go make it reality
You live every day like a movie scene
Cause when you get cut, you can change your thing
If there's something you wanna be
Then go make it reality
You live every day like a movie scene
Cause when you get cut, you can change your thing

I've got dead a shit job, I know how it ends
I've lost touch with some friends, and that I regret
I can't change the past when it's set like cement
But even the good days come to an end
I can't change the past when it's set like cement
Even the good days come to an end

If there's something you wanna be
Then go make it reality
You live every day like a movie scene
Cause when you get cut, you can change your thing
If there's something you wanna be
Then go make it reality
You live every day like a movie scene
Cause when you get cut, you can change your thing

What you get is what you see
So make the best before you leave
One more reason [?]
Everything is temporary

We all love our [?]
But it's not reality
These days will end eventually
Cause everything is temporary
