

Present Past Future

Beware of Darkness

Scared of the future
And I hate my past
The present hurts too much but I know it won't last, know it won't last
Scared of the outcome
Of what I could become
And I know if I don't do something that I will be done

My present, past, and future haunt me
My present, past, and future haunt me
My present, past, and future haunt me
My present, past, and future haunt me

I got a friend that wants me dead
I got a women that wants me in bed
I'm somewhere in between trying not to blow my brains out
There's nowhere to be alive
There's nowhere to survive
And no one told me life would be this long

I'm terrified of what I'll never know
What future lies, I will not go
Anxiety is killing me
I have to change it's now or never

Scared of the future
And I hate my past
The present hurts too much but I know it won't last, know it won't last
Scared of the outcome
Of what I could become
And I know if I don't do something that I will be done

My present, past, and future haunt me
My present, past, and future haunt me
My present, past, and future haunt me
My present, past, and future haunt me

Will you follow me
Will you follow me
Into the darkness now
And will you hold my hand so I will never have to be alone again
Will you follow me
Will you follow me
Into the darkness now
And will you hold my hand so I will never have to be alone again

My present, past, and future haunt me
My present, past, and future haunt me
My present, past, and future haunt me
My present, past, and future haunt me

Will you follow me
Will you follow me
Into the darkness now
And will you hold my hand so I will never have to be alone again
Will you follow me
Will you follow me
Into the darkness now

And will you hold my hand so I will never have to be alone again
