Beware of Darkness

You bring your Gods, I'll bring mine And we'll end the problem right now Whose religion is a waste of time No more holy wars ending life In the name of every God above Let's draw some blood tonight Let's have a war (War) Let's have a war (War) Baby, baby, baby, this is what you were born for Let's have a war (War) Let's have a war (War) Baby, baby, baby, this is what you were born for You say your prayers, I'll say mine Only focus on our differences And not how we're alike Purgatory, purgatory somewhere we got so lost No more killing in the name of God And using faith as a bomb Let's have a war (War) Let's have a war (War) Baby, baby, baby, this is what you were born for Let's have a war (War) Let's have a war (War) Baby, baby, baby, this is what you were born for War... In the name of the father, the son, and the holy ghost May God kill all the people that I hate the most God can create, but we can destroy Let's have a war (War) Let's have a war (War) Baby, baby, baby, this is what you were born for Let's have a war (War) Let's have a war (War) Baby, baby, baby, this is what you were born for Baby, baby, baby, this is what you were born for Baby, baby, baby, this is what you were born for Baby, baby, baby, this is what you were born for Baby, baby, baby, this is what you were born for Dear listener, please, note that this song is satire It uses hyperbole to make a point about how ridiculous It can be when people get violent over religion and think that one religion is better than the other Because we are all one, and leading with love, peace, and unity is the way t o be

War
