

Call My Name

Beyond The Black

You've walked across the desert, made your way through wasted land
Saw death and fear as no one has, and I know you'll make it 'til the end
You would not stop a second, if you had to sacrifice
Each one you travelled with, I can see it in your pale blue eyes
I can see it in your pale blue eyes

Call my name at the field of roses
Call my name at the end of time
When you stand in the towers shadow
Call out that you were mine
Call my name at the field of roses
Call my name where the stars align
When you stare in the face of madness
Call out that you were mine

Call my name - at the anchor of a thousand worlds
Call my name - and remember then how much it hurts
Call my name - at the anchor of a billion lives
Call out my name - whenever you arrive

The last one of an era, got to bear your past alone
When comes the day, you realise, you're a relic of the world you roam
You've lost all love you cherished, you have paid an awful price
And still, there's no regret, I can see it in your pale blue eyes
I can see it in your pale blue eyes

Call my name at the field of roses
Call my name at the end of time
When you stand in the towers shadow
Call out that you were mine
Call my name at the field of roses
Call my name where the stars align
When you stare in the face of madness
Whenever you arrive

Call my name at the field of roses
Call my name at the end of time
When you stand in the towers shadow
Call out that you were mine
Call my name at the field of roses
Call my name where the stars align
When you stare in the face of madness
Call out that you were mine

Call my name - at the anchor of a thousand worlds
Call my name - and remember then how much it hurts
Call my name - at the anchor of a billion lives
Call out my name - whenever you arrive

Whenever you arrive
