

The Other Side

Beyond The Black

Do we live - just to live
Do we search - not to find
Do we care - not to change a bit
Do we see - not to see
Do we feel - to reflect

It falres like a fire again
And it's burning my memory

And it feels like I'm trembling within my little world
I'm shaking on my way to the other side
But I'll be brave
And I'm leaving my soul to the enemy just to you again

And we'll reunite in my subjection

When will I fall, when will I let things flow
I hear your call and I just can't let go

Though my escape fuels my addiction and dusks my lucid mind
My hope for resurrection fades away
I can't get back what we have missed and what we never did
'Cause all there is to be needs my reflection

And I see light in my suppression

When will I fall, when will I let things flow
I hear your call and I just can't let go

Now I am here and you are there far away
I hardly resist the temptation
that pulls me away

And it always feels so good jut to be with you, no matter how, no matter where But when the day has come will it be the same?
I'll wait here in the cold until the day you warm my heart again And the we'll be as one, forever we will roam - do we live - just to live?

When will I fall, when will I let things flow
I hear your call and I just can't let go

Now I am here and you are there far away
I hardly resist the temptation
that pulls me away
To the other side