'Cause on my phone they tryna bone
I'm like, "What's up? What's up with you? Got a boo?"

Early hours in the morn', ID unknown
Usually I hit that decline too, but I was curious
So I couldn't let that shit ring through
I pick it up (I pick it up)
I keep my voice real low
'Til I wait a second, then I hit 'em like, "Hello?" (Hello?)
And at first, it was nothin'
Then I hear her on the other side huffin' and puffin'
She paused and said, "Okay, from woman to woman
Bitch, you fuckin' with my nigga, what the fuck is you doin'?"
Who the fuck is you screwin'? He really on his last last
And ain't got no bag if that's just what you pursuin'"
She was talkin' so fast, I barely got me a word in
And she got no job, so she hate when he workin'
Time on her hands, she spent it on her Instagram lurkin'
And she see I'm bad as fuck, so her feelings was hurtin'
And at first (And at first), my instinct was like, "Check it"
But I've been in that position, all I could do was respect it
She just asked for what's expected
'Cause her kids feelin' neglected and she wanna feel protected
Respectfully, you won't find that nigga here
'Cause I don't have just anybody caught in my affairs (In my affairs)
Swear to God, I just answered your whole prayer
Let me tell you, you already know that he ain't playin' fair, uh
And that's not my business to tell
But you wouldn't be on his phone if you ain't know him so well (Hmm)
And that's just the thing with us women
We would rather keep his ass just so she don't go with him, uh
So I'ma do you one better and block him
Just know the next bitch that you find ain't gonna be the last proble
