I believe in the human need to believe there's hope for an ange

One who's gone, for he had become, in the sky there's space for an angel

Overhead, if you look real hard, you will see that there's mill ions of angels

One who's gone, for he had become, in the sky there's space for an angel

I believe in the human need to believe there's hope for an ange 1

One who's gone, for he had become, in the sky there's space for an angel

Into the sky there's a space for an angel

Look to the sky there's a space for an angel