Little Mamma

Hey lil moma why don't You ever smile? I know life aint easy Bringing up a child, but yo Listen lil moma Cause Im feeling your pain I wonder if your baby daddy Out there feeling the same Where your friend at lil moma? They got plans tonight at the club Wanna get themselves A man tonight They done left you all Alone, huh lil moma Under pressure on your own Dealing with the drama Can you turn to your Family and ask for help Or would they turn you away Cause they got problems they self Lil moma gotta crib But it's hell there No frills gotta live on the welfare Oh Iil moma tell me what I can do To make you smile just one time And your little one too Lil moma just know Some of us men are true Lil moma, this ones for you Uh, lil moma Chorus Don't worry, you're stronger Just hold on a little bit longer Don't worry, you're stronger Just hold on a little bit longer Girl I know your man has left you With a child on your own And you find it hard to cope With all the stress alone And there's nowhere to run Cant have any fun Looking for someone to Be there for you All your hopes in love are gone You don't have strength to believe Gonna take time but you will find that special one that you need But there's no need to Rush, girl take your time And you will find the one That will be true Chorus Hey little mama why You so depressed? I know you wondering how The hell you got in this mess Your baby daddys left Babys last nappy wet

You can't turn to family When you feel neglect And I bet you did a couple Of things that you regret There's always hope there never forget, all you gotter do Is try harder My mama made it on Her own without my father Me and two brothers Wonder how she did it Maybe it's because she never Gave up and stayed committed Barely 16 now gotta deal with this The pressure make you wanna Slit your wrist but don't The lord never gives you More than you can handle If you keep your head up aint No telling what you can do Little Mama keep the faith, God will keep you safe Under his wing all you gotta Do is turn to him And in the end you wont Regret a thing Chorus
